WE NOMINATE

Those unsung Princetonians—volunteer officers, directors and committee chairmen as well as full-time staff members—who over the years have made it possible for the Village Improvement Society of the 1890's to grow from strength to strength until it is now capable of extending guidance and even material aid to Princeton families in need of help. This past Monday evening the former Improvement Society, which had evolved into the Social Service Bureau by 1941 after some 20 years of service as the Community League of Princeton, adopted a revised constitution and officially became the Family Service Agency of Princeton, an organization dedicated to conserving and developing "normal life for people in the community by means of skilled case work service and family counselling, limited financial assistance, and cooperation with other community organizations both public and private."

The passage of the new constitution, and its accompanying by-laws, represented months of painstaking effort on the part of a three-woman constitutional revision committee, was in keeping with the agency's 58-year old tradition of meeting Princeton's changing needs. Brought into being during the Spanish-American War for the express purpose of cooperating "with the Town Council and Board of Health in civic work," the original society launched the now independent Visiting Nurse Association in 1901 and was incorporated a decade later "so that the property given towards starting a small hospital could be legally held."

The newly christened Family Service Agency, that during the early stages of the Depression of the 1930's administered all emergency relief funds for both Borough and Township, had outgrown the rigid concept of a Social Service Bureau by the close of World War II. On the basis of its experiences in wartime, when it had been concerned among other responsibilities with investigations for Selective Service Boards and had been closely allied with the American Red Cross, it found itself caring for the many rather than the few. Like the other member organizations of the Family Service Association of America, the local unit learned at first hand that the ever-increasing tempo of modern life broadens human needs by complicating personal, marital, family and financial problems.

A charter member of the Princeton Community Chest (now the United Community Fund) and for 1957 understandably seeking a record budget of $25,511, this agency in 1947 capitalized upon the advice of volunteer experts and established its Family Guidance Center, one of New Jersey's first mental hygiene "clinics." In addition to shouldering the heavy burdens of highly individualized family case-work and maintaining the Guidance Center, presently staffed by a half-dozen psychologists, the "F.S.A." works closely with the Princeton Nursery School, arranges schooling, camping vacations and "home opportunities" for troubled children and administers special funds (including the Town Topics Christmas Fund) for those in dire financial straits.

For their devotion to the ideals connoted by the Golden Rule of "doing unto others;" for preferring the anonymity of truly distinguished service to public recognition in any form; for understanding the privileges and challenges of neighborliness; these Princetonians—past and present—are our nominees for

THE BUILDING SCENE

A Familiar Tune. Bulldozers are singing their same sweet song in Princeton this week, possibly unheard by many ears because the melody has become such a familiar one of late. They are playing their fast-beat tune in unison with other tools of the same trade, much in evidence throughout the entire area.

Newest members of the band can be found between Springdale Road and Olden Lane, north and south of soon-to-be-altered Goodman Road, where the Institute for Advanced Study's $1,500,000 housing project got underway this week. Scheduled for completion in time for the annual fall influx of "thinkers" next year, the project's blueprints reflect a fancy, 106-unit garden apartment layout.

The Sovereign Construction Company of New York is responsible for the ground-clearing bulldozers and colleagues of Marcel Breuer, designer of the UNESCO building in Paris, are standing by to see that the architectural job is started right. Ranging from studio-style one-room quarters for bachelors to three-bedroom units for families—most of them featuring lots of glass to throw added sunshine on the Institute's transients — the apartments are expected to serve as an eyecatching replacement for the nearby eyesore "barracks."

Also in tune with Princeton's 1956 theme song, there were these construction notes to be noted this week: (1) Speer Memorial Library edging out of the Seminary ground at Library Place and Mercer Street, progressing "on schedule" towad its completion date some 15 months hence. (2) St. Paul's Church heading for completion around Christmas time following traditional cornerstone-laying ceremonies for new convent and rectory last week.

(3) Bell Telephone Company and Redding's vying for building honors across Nassau Street from each other, both recording giant strides thanks to recent good weather. (4) Princeton High School broadening its structural scope daily, with officials predicting all additions will be ready for full use come fall. (5) Food Machinery Corporation putting the finishing touches on its handsome Route 1 research plant and the First National Bank pushing up its West Windsor branch hurriedly, the former planning a late-summer opening and the latter shooting for its opening soon thereafter.

THE NO-BUILDING SCENE

Good Old Days Gone. Rumors were an inflationary two bits a dozen in Princeton this week to the effect that Princeton Municipal Improvement has scuttled its 20-year-old plans to erect a Palmer Square East matching the charm as well as cubic feet of Palmer Square West. Those responsible for the tongue-twisters cited everything from the Borough's not-so-old 50-foot height ordinace, prohibiting a five-story twin of five-story Palmer Square West, to the all-too-apparent absence of required off-street parking space, to the dearth of recent announcements about the once-proposed edifice.

Speaking in behalf of PMI, George A. Brakeley, president, assured Town Topics this week that "no changes in plans" have been made for over a year—since PMI announced it was "not going ahead" with Palmer Square East "for the time being," just placing the plans "on the shelf." Rumors of a scuttle job are unfounded, according to the boss man.

Despite the sudden lack of persons to quote authoritatively and at length on this subject of long-range importance to Princeton, there were informed observers with some pretty cogent opinions regarding the situation. Commented one: "The new, small PMI building on Nassau Street probably is a trial balloon. If that goes okay, then plans for Palmer Square East ought to be revived."

Said another: "What with many businesses moving their offices out of PMI space to the surrounding terrain, it's only natural to expect PMI to wait and see if it can rent that space before creating more offices." The final cry: "Construction costs must come down before Palmer Square East can go up!"

AROUND TOWN

Is Everybody Happy? Princetonians were non-plussed last week—particularly Township residents—by the thought that delaying tactics might kick Princeton Research Park out of Princeton Township into any open-armed tax-minded neighboring municipality. They rested easier this week with the report that "everything is under control" and the campus-style, multi-million dollar project once again is a "shoo-in" for North Harrison Street.

The Township's Planning Board and Committee met together in informal sessions during the past week to iron out "technical problems" concerning the park's roads, sewers and surface drainage. When they got through, everybody was said to be happy—happy that the two groups came up quickly with reasonable controls that can be applied to the park, just as they are to the whole community. Happy also that they decided to declare the 66-acre tract a "single lot" for the sake of usefulnes and beauty.

As the park's planners and the Township fathers climbed back on the same track at mid-week, it seemed likely that the Planning Board will make "a few minor changes" at its meeting next Tuesday before handing the park's elaborate plans back to the Township Committee for further action. The Committee probably will act favorably with considerable dispatch and schedule a public hearing for June 11, less than two weeks behind the park sponsors' original expectations.

Public Affairs. Two affairs which over the years have captured the interest of many Princetonians are on the horizon. One is the annual Memorial Day festivities (see time schedule box) arranged for this Wednesday, which includes a parade of some 25 units as well as related observances.

The other is the now annual Hospital Fete, dated for Saturday, June 2, with Princeton Hospital the beneficiary. Last year, nearly 5,000 residents of the area participated by working or enjoying the day-long fete. This year's affair will be held at the Westminister Choir College.

Radio Plans Shift. Fred Van Deventer, radio and television veteran of Mansgrove Road, is still searching for an area to lease or buy as a home for radio towers necessary to the start of an A. M. station in Princeton.

Mr. Van Deventer withdrew his application in Lawrence Township last week without explanation, but indicated he would look for other suitable sites with proper geologic circumstances. A rumored plan to erect the three-175-foot towers on land of the Water Company near the Canal has been reported scotched, but Mr. Van Deventer's inquiries are still a matter of discussion in neighboring West Windsor Township.

Traffic Death No. 4. Princeton counted its fourth highway fatality of the year this past week as death came to 81-year-old Oscar S. Stillwell, veteran contractor who helped the town grow during important stages of development. The robust octogenerian held his own for a month after the lamentable collision, but could not overcome the odds against a man of his years.

While Mr. Stillwell's death brought the traffic toll to two in the Township and two in the Borough, Emlin (Buster) Smith remained on the "critical" list at Princeton Hospital, where he was taken following a Lawrenceville Road accident on March 2. Mr. Smith's physical condition offered no cheer, though he was given a tremendous spiritual lift by the report that the Cosmopolitan Club raised $400 at a benefit dance in his behalf.

First Plans Arrive. The Borough Housing Authority, the Planning Board and, by invitation, the Mayor and Council, huddled for several hours on Tuesday for a long-range general discussion of a preliminary plan for "urban redevelopment" in the John-Leigh-Witherspoon-Hullfish area.

The Housing Authority's consultants submitted preliminary ideas, which are understood to involve a 190-unit development, of which about 50 units would be public housing. The talk was not specific, however, and ranged over the needs of the area, rents and study of possible plans for clearance, management, disposition, controls on re-use, site preparation and financing, plus such fundamental ideas as zoning, circulation and community facilities.

The Bus Named Desire. If Suburban Transit Co. of New Brunswick still intends to provide express bus service between Princeton and New York, and company officials have long indicated a desire to do so, the transit firm must come to Princeton Township leaders with "an amicable agreement." Gordon D. Griffin, Township attorney, observed this week that the Princeton municipality now appears in the driver's seat of a hassle that has persisted since mid-winter.

For the first time, the Township gained a clear-cut advantage last week when Robert H. Shertz, Philadelphia attorney representing the Township in hearings before the Interstate Commerce Commission, advised Mr. Griffin that the ICC has officially recognized the Township's objections to Suburban's proposed route. In short, the ICC has granted the Township the right to intervene in future ICC-Suburban discussions, if any.

Mr. Griffin noted that Suburban's officials, several months ago, agreed to consider a route in keeping with Township wishes rather than their own interests. They later decided to pursue attempts to obtain the route which the Township did not want and, in view of the ICC's latest ruling, apparently failed in this effort. Thus, the Township attorney feels they will be willing to agree amicably to the Township-endorsed route instead of delaying matters with further ICC hearings.

Originally, Suburban wanted and received a tentative okay for a route running through residential streets of the Township, including Valley Road. The Township-endorsed route would run only from Nassau Street along Harrison Street to the Shopping Center, where a turn-around would be made.

Two More Fires. The busiest spring season in Princeton Fire Department history had two more chapters written into it this week with a pair of additional general alarms.

Sunday morning just before 3 o'clock, flames broke out in the kitchen of the three-story frame house at 19 Bank Street. The blaze was confined to the kitchen and dining room, but thick smoke temporarily claimed two victims in Miss Margaret McNally, 81, and her sister, Mrs. Mary Ann Kennan, 83.

Asleep when the fire (of undetermined origin) broke out, they were taken to Princeton Hospital and were reported to be recovering from their experience satisfactorily.

Thirty-six hours later, the awnings on two Witherspoon Street stores blazed into cinders, with Fire Chief George Cahill attributing the cause to a carelessly discarded cigarette. The Monday evening fire (8:31 p.m.) caused damage estimated at a few hundred dollars to the store fronts of the Radio Center and Bailey's Department store at 12 and 14 Witherspoon Street.

PERSONALITIES

Joseph S. Hoff, 89-year-old chairman of the First National Bank of Princeton was honored yesterday as the oldest banker ever to be inducted into the Half Century Club of the N. J. Bankers Association. Mr. Hoff, still active, organized the First National here and took in the first deposit in 1893 as the institution's first cashier.

Herbert Huffman, who in less than two decades as founder and director of the Columbus Boychoir has brought the unique group to international prominence, handed down the reins this week and retired to private business. For news of his successors, see Topics of the Town.

Jack Urbont, music critic for Town Topics in 1954-55 will be represented in New York next season with his score for "Tom Sawyer", an original musical adaption of Mark Twain's classic scheduled for the Phoenix Theatre. Meanwhile, Eric Salzman, Town Topics' critic for the present season, has been honored by a Fulbright Award for study abroad in music composition.

Princeton Bank & Trust Company will consummate its merger with the Hopewell National Bank at the close of business on June 29, with the banks opening as a combined institution the following Monday, July 2. Stockholders of each bank will meet June 22 in special sessions, at which necessary two-thirds affirmative votes are expected to endorse the merger.

In letters to stockholders advising them of the meetings and explaining the terms of the proposed hand-joining, President George R. Cook 3d of the Princeton bank and President Edward U. Hill of the Hopewell bank emphasized this week that directors of both institutions believe the larger volume of business and the greater opportunities for further expansion inherent in the merger will enhance earnings and increase the value of the stockholders' shares.

The two executives noted that the required approval of the Commissioner of Banking and Insurance for New Jersey has been received. Further, they observed that total capital funds of the combined institution are expected to be in excess of $1,600,00, that an increase in the legal lending limit from $85,000 to $125,000 will permit more service to the larger businesses of the expanded Princeton-Hopewell area and that an opportunity to expand trust and banking services in a growing industriel end residential region will be gained.

Scofflaw Scolded, Fined. In the news several weeks ago when she was hailed (into court) as the Borough's record-breaking holder of parking tickets, Mrs. Elizabeth Travers, 345 Nassau Street, appeared before Township Magistrate Louis R. Gerber this Tuesday night and pleaded guilty to a careless driving complaint. The magistrate, taking "judicial notice of your driving record and granting no leniency due to your attitude," fined the defendant $30 and revoked her license for 10 days.

T. B. Smith, Clarksville Road, and E. A. Costigan, Trenton, were ruled innocent of careless driving after Magistrate Gerber heard the facts of a peculiar accident and reasoned the mishap was "unavoidable." Mr. Smith told the magistrate he stopped his car suddenly on Stockton Street when another auto halted in front of him—the other auto having been cut from a towing vehicle by a snapped cable—and Mr. Costigan's car rammed him from behind. The latter, defended by Attorney Theodore T. Tams Jr., testified he applied his brakes in time, but skidded on wet tar into Mr. Smith.

Defendant Dismissed. Because the complainant in the case, Patrolman Robert McAvenie, was scheduled to be in two places at once, a driver who had knocked down an electric light pole on Washington Road was dismissed in borough court this week on a careless driving charge.

The policeman was unable to appear to press charges because he had been assigned to school traffic patrol duty. Accordingly, after a 15-minute wait, Magistrate Paul R. Chesebro dismissed the complaint against Robert W. Perrine, 22 Vandeventer Avenue.

In the only other case on Tuesday, a "double" fine of $20 was imposed on George Glenn, 188 John Street. The penalty for passing a red traffic signal was increased beceuse the defendant failed to answer his summons on schedule.

Goal Well Topped. The 75th Anniversary Campaign of the Princeton Red Cross Chapter has been completed with the goal oversubscribed by nearly $8,000. Harold E. Zarker, chapter chairman, this week reported contributions of $46,846.41 in contrast to the goal of $38,945. James McFadden Jr. was campaign chairman.

Officers and board members will be elected at the annuel meeting next Thursday at 8:15 in the First Presbyterian Church. With additional nominations open from the floor, this is the slate to be presented:

Paul Alford, chairman; Mr. McFadden, first vice-chairman; James Wakelin, second vice-chairman; Mrs. Thomas Mederos, secretary; Willis Nealley, Jr., treasurer; Rueben Schwartzstein, assistant treasurer; Frank Bird, Charles Hurford, Rabbi Joseph H. Gelherman and Simeon Moss, directors.

A Day for Stevenson. More than 100 volunteers serving the New Jersey Stevenson for President Committee will hold a day-long conference Saturday at the Princeton Inn. Archibald S. Alexander, former State Treasurer and now director of Mr. Stevenson's national headquarters, will be the luncheon speaker.

Plans will be made for the weeks preceding the Democratic Convention in August. Princetonians assisting with Saturday's arrangements are George F. Kennan, co-chairman of the State Committee for Stevenson; Mrs. Henry D. Smyth, its treasurer; John P. Poe and Marver Bernstein, co-chairmen of the newly-formed Princeton Stevenson Committee.

Board Honors Karch. William M. Karch, retiring secretary of the Township Board of Education, has been cited for his 27 years of service. A committee of the Board, including Mrs. Kate Nicoll, president, presented him with the framed resolution.

Mr. Karch was cited for devoting "his distinguished and unselfish efforts to the best interests of the school schildren of the Township." Twenty-four of his years on the Board have been in the position of secretary.

Art Windows Listed

The 30 stores selected by the Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce for participation in the second annual Princeton Merchants' Art Exhibition were announced this week. Paintings by as many contemporary artists, among them the best-known names in the U. S., will go on display Friday, June 1, for a two-week period.

The exhibit, which met with widespread community interest last spring, is designed to familiarize Princetonians with modern art by permitting them to see the paintings while going about every-day activities in the town's business center. It is co-sponsored with the Jay-Cees by Town Topics.

The store windows in which the works of art will appear are Davidson's Supermarket, Hulit's, Viedt's, The Cummins Shop, Hinkson's, The Clothes Line, Princeton Stationers, Bellows, Renwick's, Walter B. Howe, Nassau Savings and Loan, Wine and Game, Woolworth's, Western Union.

News of the Theatres

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

Carlotta Sherwood, who recently completed nine weeks as Juliet in the Shakespearewright's off-Broadway "Romeo and Juliet", is appearing as Abigail Williams, the young girl whose accusations sent many "Witches" to trial and even to death, in the Community Players concert reading of "The Crucible" tonight through Saturday at Murray Theatre.

Miss Sherwood joined the cast last week and the Players have worked furiously to ready "The Crucible" in place of the melodrama which had to be called off. Tickets for the remaining three performances at 8:30 p.m. may be obtained at the University Store, Zinder's, or the box office before the performances.

The play is being presented under the direction of John F. Becker as a reading against a draped and lighted background, without scenery or props. After six months of a successful Broadway run in 1953, playwright Arthur Miller rewrote portions of "The Crucible" for staging in this fashion. The Players are using his rewritten version.

Mrs. Paul Fussell is making her bow with the Players as Goodwife Proctor, one of those accused by Abigail. Byron Keene plays her husband, John Proctor, the central character of the stirring drama set in old Salem.

Also reading parts in the production are Barbara Epstein, a seventh-grader at Valley Road; Mrs. H. P. Cahill Jr., a graduate of the speech and drama department at Stanford; Miss Sarah Snow, a student at Princeton High who has worked backstage for the Players this year, and vincent de Baun, a member of the English Department at Rutgers and veteran of seven years in summer stock plus radio and television.

Veterans of the Players in the cast of "The Crucible" are Mrs. Blackwell Smith, Phebe Gulick, Marylou Kelly, Herbert McAneny, E. N. Muller, Jr., Lorin Zissman, James Hopkins, and Robert Matthews. Peter Van Zandt is responsible for the lighting.

McCARTER THEATRE

Two kinds of magicians will appear at the McCarter Theatre on Reunion Weekend in June, one of them Cornelia Otis Skinner who has established a "magical reputation" as a one-woman entertainer, and the other Fred Keating, a product of the long line of famous magicians.

They will perform their "Characters and Chicanery" on Thursday, June 7 and Saturday, June 9, the Friday performance being already reserved by Reunion wives and guests. Tickets are now on sale at the McCarter box office by mail, phone (5515) or at the window.

Miss Skinner, daughter of the famed Otis Skinner, enchanted New York critics with her gallery of a dozen characters when "Character and Chincanery" was presented as a one night only "Phoenix Sideshow" by Norris Houghton, co-director of the Phoenix Theatre in New York and celebrating his 25th Princeton Reunion in June (hence "C & C" renssembled for the performances here.)

She did her Nebraska girl being presented to the Queen, the old biddy on a New England porch, Yvette Guilbert, the frustrated Boston schoolteacher trying to enjoy a few moments of gaiety in Paris, and many others, sort of a capsule review of her successes in full-length one-woman shows.

Mr. Keating on the other hand, traces his magicianship through Houdini, Thurston and back to the great Leipzig. Magicians, although they work out illusions of their own, come by certain acts only through inheritance.

Mr. Keating gave up school at 15 and joined Nate Leipzig as an assistant. He next went around the world as an assistant to Howard Thurston and eventually became a headliner at the Palace, Loew's State and a host of other famous vaudeville houses, supper clubs and casinos.

He received a number of magic masterpieces from his former mentors. The famous trick of swallowing 40 separate needles and bringing them out threaded (which will be on the Princeton programs) came to Keating through Houdini.

Of all his tricks, however, the "now you see it, now you don't" bird and cage trick became the Keating trademark. Then one day, when a particular canary which had been in the act for years died, the routine was shelved—until revived at the Phoenix and specially for the Princeton performances.

BUCKS COUNTY PLAYHOUSE

"The Rainmaker", romantic Broadway comedy about a Cinderella from the Dustbowl Southwest who learns self-confidence from a glib tramp, opens Monday for a week at the Bucks County Playhouse in New Hope. "Anastasia" is the current tenant, continuing through Saturday evening with a matinee closing day.

Hollywood actor Frank McHugh and Nancy Marchand of the New York stage will be starred in "The Rainmaker". The comedy by N. Richard Nash is the story of a rancher's gawky daughter resigned to spinsterhood until a roving con-man (to be played by James Prittchett) stops by. Others in the cast will include Joseph Macaulay, Frank Daly and John Napier.

A lack of rain and a lack of suitors for the young lady is the situation when the grandiloquent rover turns up and promises a fine rainstorm for a mere hundred dollars. As he cooks up a plan to producing rain, he also begins to work on love-lorn Lizzie, teaching her how to mix dreams and reality in the right proportions.

The rainstorm fails to materialize, but the girl does learn how to win the right man. The Playhouse production is under the direction of Robert Caldwell, with ettings by Hal Shafter.

MUSIC CIRCUS

Preparations are going full scale in Lombertville, where the Music Season is readying its 1956 season. The opening is set for Saturday, June 2, with "The King and I" launching a run of four weeks.

The extra-long session for the popular Rodgers and Hammerstein hit musical is part of a trend at the Music Circus, where St. John Terrell is planning fewer shows and longer runs over his season, which goes to the end of September.

Following "The King and I," which winds up July 1, the schedule includes: "Plain and Fancy" (July 3-22, three weeks); "The Student Prince" (July 24-August 5, two weeks); "Annie Get Your Gun" (August 7-19, also two weeks); "Can-Can" (August 21-September 9, three weeks), and another show still to be named.

Theatre party benefits have already been heavily sold. Mr. Terrell has announced one innovation for the season which will see shows at 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. on Saturday in place of the customary matinee and evening set-up. The twilight performance will help patrons avoid mid-afternoon heat and give a boost to restaurant business in the area.

Bert Yarborough has been named to direct at the Music Circus for the second year in a row. Donald Pippin, choral director last year, has been named musical director for 1956. Mr. Pippin has served as musical director for Bea Lillie, NBC radio, MGM records, and contributed to the score of the film "Young at Heart."

NEW HOPE ACTOR: Frank McHugh will be starred in "The Rainmaker," coming to Bucks County Playhouse Monday.

THE PLAYHOUSE

The Revolt of Mamie Stover (May 24-26) centers on the sins of Jane Russell as a girl in a profession which can be interpreted optionally, according to the dubious niceties of the film industries. She gets shipped out of Frisco to Honolulu in '41, and producer Buddy Adler works in the same period, themes and settings of his "From Here to Eternity," plus a smattering of the soldiers and girls idea in his "Battle Cry." Richard Egan, Joan Leslie, and Agnes Moorehead also are featured. Technicolor and CinemaScope.

The Swan (May 27-30) has the serene Grace Kelly in a serene and trivial romance. Interest is mostly in the characters because the story is nothing more than Princess chooses Prince over Commoner. Alex Guinness in his first American film is the prince, while Louis Jourdan plays the also-ran. Jessie Royce Landis, Brian Aherne and Agnes Moorehead are among those in a good supporting cast. Sumptuous castle scenery and color and CinemaScope photography.

It's New to Us

Midas in the Bathroom. Realizing that nothing makes a man feel like a millionaire quite so much as a handful of gold, the Martex towel people have started weaving gold stripes between the white and colored stripes on some of their bath towels. We saw these at Clayton's, 17 Palmer Square West.

In these towels the color is terry pile. The faint gold stripe runs parallel but down in a little valley where there is no pile. This means that the gold won't scratch. It wouldn't anyhow on these towels because it's supposed to be especially fine gold thread. It will wash, obviously, and not tarnish.

Colors are celadon green, butterscotch, gold, turquoise and clear light pink. Bath size is $2.95, fingertips are 59c. The same towels—more or less—are $1.95 without the bullion.

Gold gleams again on some other towels, but this time it has been used as a half-inch border of fine chevrons. Comes in pastels and white, $1.98 for bath size.

Jantzen branched out a season or two ago with shorts and shirts to complement its bathing suits. This year's matching mates are based on tartans. For example, there are tartan shorts that match a white shirt with tartan collar and front band, or an all-tartan shirt. Solid color Bermudas and short shorts harmonize with the deeper colors in the tartan.

A sleeveless T-shirt in white mesh has a tartan tie at the end of its matching neck-band. Checks have been used in another set of Jantzen shirts: grey, royal or yellow and white in shirts and shorts, with solid color shorts that pick up the darker hue of the checks. Gold or moss green shorts could be worn with a cotton knit T-shirt in fine horizontal stripe: gold or green with white.

Shapely sends its butterflies aloft again this summer. They have been printed on pastels in what looks like silk screen technique—lilac, aqua, yellow or pink. Bermudas or shorts in deeper shades make up a costume.

Roll Out the Barrel. This one is an old European wine keg, walnut in color with hoops of brushed stainless steel. Inside is a galvanized pail that must hold at least six gallons. Space between pail and barrel has been insulated with fibreglas, and barrel and pail are now waiting at Princeton Gourmet for someone to come along and pack the whole thing with ice and a cold bottle or two.

The barrell stands on a little rubber-tired dolly that can be wheeled around a terrace. Lift it off the rack whenever you choose. (There is a black brass shield on the side, just right for initials, inscription or a Princeton seal.) Barrel and dolly are $52.50 at the Gourmet—corner Nassau and Harrison.

The barrell keeps 'em cool, a copper coffee pot keeps 'em hot—"'em" being a gallon's worth of coffee cups. You can boil coffee in this monster, or just use it for storage on its black wrought iron rack over a sterno. Costs $32.50.

Bavaria's Arzberg and Finland's Arabia are now official ambassadors at the Gourmet. Eight Arabia patterns, done in that familiar falance, are available. There are plain designs: white with blue or yellow border, or graceful ones: snowflakes in charcoal on grey, blue, or a centered cluster of fruits on the same color.

Denmark sends four fruit knives, sharp enough to pare a pineapple, and six steak knives, sharp enough for chuck. Both have smoothly molded teak handles.

For summer entertaining, Gourmet has paper napkins, mats and guest towels. "Hens at Work" is an amusing little scene of hens and eggs, done in primitive modern. Twenty-four mats and napkins cost $1.50. Meat, fowl, fish, melons—all serve as decorations for other chipper little mats in this series. (Paper is waterbond, and won't dissolve if a guest upsets his coffee.)

Breakfast napkins say "Guten morgen" in five languages—cocktail napkins say practically anything, or nothing at all—some

Large as "Life"

Remember the great big cabana beach towel on last week's "Life" cover? It's in the linen closet at Clayton's, its six feet of length folded over its 36-inch width, with only the $6.95 price tag visible.

The towel is a red, white and blue picture of a beach dressing room with "Life Guard" largely printed on a towel thrown over the dressing room door. The towel comes to a triangular point at the top, just like a cabana. Martex thinks of everything.

Other beach towels at the Palmer Square store are stripped—very conservatively in pastels, white and turquoise with a pink cord fringe—or boldly in deep olive, tan and white. These towels are cheaper ($3.95) than the cabana; probably the architect's fee makes the difference.

are cute, some are suave. . . . 15 guest towels at 30c might even encourage a guest to use one . . . barbecue napkins have appropriate illustration and legend for those who eschew the barbecue . . . simple picnic napkins have green leaf prints on white.

Thirsty guests? Dri-coasters have a coil of absorbent plastic that soaks up the dew from a glass. Big models take care of a pitcher. A rim of black plastic frames each coaster. Eight small ones are $3.95.

Cool, Men. Tartans by Macgregor are as plentiful as heather at the Junior and Prep Shops, 69 Palmer Square West. Take a short-sleeved button-down sport shirts in stripes of charcoal and red, blue and green or brown and blue at $3.95 ("Tartan stripes" they call these, and we hope no MacGregor takes offense.) Sizes from 14-20.

No-iron cotton tartan by MacGregor—real tartan this time—is called "L-I-O-N," which comes out, in anagram, as "Little Or No Ironing." Another sport shirt is an open Oxford cloth in yellow, white and grey stripes. It's called Bermuda cloth and looks as cool as a coral island. For $4.95.

Valedictorians, or even boys who are far from cum laude, will need something to graduate in, nevertheless. Here are navy blue dacron linen sports coats ($15.95) to wear with white ducks ($4.95) —cheaper than a diploma, almost.

Tropical worsted slacks come in tan, slate grey or brown for $14.95, and a dacron and cotton mix is $11.95. This d. & c. blend holds a good crease, and doesn't resist washing (more than you can say for most young males.) It comes in a grey with lots of blue in it, olive—but not a deep shade—and brown for $11.95. Waist sizes are 25-32 inches.

Swim trunks this year are reversible—and we don't mean wet and dry. This pair is solid on one side, stripe or plaid on the other. The shorts are very brief for diving and swimming, without the tightness of a tank-type trunk. They are $3.95-14-20.

Bare knees may have, beneath it all, a pair of socks that are helanca, with a cotton back. This means the stretch of helance plus the absorbancy of cotton, and the combination means comfort on a hot humid day. These knee-highs are charcoal, navy, brown, or red for $1.50.

Woodsmen heading for the wilds of northern Ontario, or even a summer camp in Maine, may equip themselves with a grey sweat-shirt whose neck has been reinforced with nylon. Cost $2.95, in sizes 14-22. Young men who like to sleep in effete city-style comfort may buy flannel pajamas—winter weight—for those Maine nights.

Brighten the Corner . . . where you are. Lamps at Nassau Interiors suspend from the ceiling or reach out from the wall. Lightoller has concocted them all, in simpler designs than you have seen before, and at somewhat simpler prices. Bubble fanciers now have a choice of two, one a sphere, one a lantern, both done in a white pleated plastic for around $15.

In several of these new lamps, Lightoller has arranged a pulley mechanism that eliminates the need for expensive re-wiring if you install a ceiling or wall lamp in your living-room. These lamps are cheaper than the early wall lamps — $21.90 or so. One or two new models we saw at Nassau Street have white washable pleated fibreglas shades, others have a light hidden behind a perforated metal cone with a bamboo shade on top.

An extraordinary table lamp, two and one-half feet high, has a base of bright royal blue pottery - dull finish - joined to shiny white pottery. The shade looks like a mosaic with strong blues, greens and mauves worked together in squares.

Egypt sends along a series of metal table lamps in copper washed with tin. The shape of one is vaguely bulbuous, the design pleasantly intricate, the flaring shade a restful combination of fibreglas and matchstick bamboo. Other shapes include an urn, pitcher, or a big thing that looks like a melon.

Lightoller has a melon too; it has a white "pleated" metal base, melon-shaped with a white pleated plastic shade. A similar lamp has a gourd-shaped base.

Nassau Interiors' newest couch is foam rubber, with a fold-down mechanism that turns it into a double bed. Not too deep to sit on comfortably, but deep enough for a good night's sleep.

Checkers enthusiasts may now play with some rug squares, featured some time ago in a national decorating magazine, now available in Princeton. Pay $1.65 for an 18-inch square in any of ten million different pile colors. Pull off the masking tape, and stick the rugs to your floors (won't hurt even a top-grade wooden floor) in any checkerboard pattern you like. These squares can even be cut with a sharp knife, so that you can lay your own wall-to-wall carpet.

Dancing and professional entertainment will highlight the party for the seniors, while 32 gift door prizes will be provided by the Princeton Business Association. Connie Knight's orchestra will provide music for dancing.

Boychoir School Changes. The resignation of Herbert Huffman, founder of the Columbus Boychoir School, after nearly two decedes as its headmaster was announced this week by the board of trustees. Cited by the board chairman, Dr. Charles R. Erdman for guiding the school "from a small civic choir to one of the world's outstanding musical organizations," Mr. Huffman will devote his time to private business but will continue as a trustee.

He will be succeeded by Dr. T. Robert Bassett, who for the past four years has been principal of the American Community School in Beirut, Lebanon. Long active in the field of administrative education, Dr. Bassett is an accomplished pianist, organist and composer.

At the same time, the promotion of Donald T. Bryant to the position of Director of Music was made known. A graduate of the Juilliard School of Music, Mr. Bryant has been in charge of the national concert tours taken by pupils at the school, as well as their numerous radio and television appearences. He has been a member of the school staff since 1948.

James Thompson of Princeton is one of two new trustees elected by the school. Re-elected to new terms were Dr. Erdman, Dilman M. K. Smith, vice-president; G. S. Boetsma, treasurer and Mrs. Samuel Shellaharger.

Robertson, a noted California scientist, this week was named supervisor of chemical microscopy for the new central research laboratory of Food Machinery & Chemical Corporation's Chemical Divisions, now under construction near Princeton on Route 1. Dr. Robertson completed his doctorate at Cornell University in 1943 and has since been engaged in the application of optical microscopy to research problems at FMC's Westvaco Mineral Products Division at Newark, Calif. He will move to the Princeton facilities when they become operational late this summer.

"GOING BACK" AFTER 38 YEARS: As Princeton approaches the height of the "reunion season", Mr. and Mrs. John DiMeglio, 49 Moran Avenue, are sailing May 29th for Italy and a summer family reunion on their native island of Ischia in the Bay of Naples. For details see Topics of the Town.

Topics Of The Town

"Going Back!" June, 1956, will always have special meaning for Mr. and Mrs. John DiMeglio, 49 Moran Avenue, who are sailing next week on the Italian Lines' Cristoforo Colombo to spend the summer on their native island of Ischia in the Bay of Naples, which they last saw 38 years ago.

Mr. DiMeglio, 65, formerly proprietor of the Rialto Barber Shop, Witherspoon Street, and until his recent retirement a fixture in other Princeton barbering establishments, and his wife, the former Lena DeAngelis, were married on Ischia shortly after Mr. DiMeglio had been released from World War I military service. They sailed for America late in 1918 and moved to Princeton in the early 1920's.

Now a naturalized American citizen, Mr. DiMeglio first reached the United States in 1910. "I came alone," he recalls, "went back to Ischia to marry in 1914." Remembering how World War I and the Italian Army had radically altered his plans four decades ago, he is sure that "nothing will stop us from coming back home in the fall."

Junior Faculty Wives Elect. Mrs. Carl Alley has been elected president of the Junior Faculty Wives for the coming year. Others chosen at the May meeting are:

Mrs. Roderic Pierce, vice-president; Mrs. Robert Christiansen, treasurer; Mrs. Richard Seymour, recording secretary; Mrs. Richard Laiety, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Richard Snedecker, membership chairman; Mrs. Kenneth Driscoll, program; Mrs. John Sillmor, arts and crafts, and Mrs. John Freely, bridge.

Fishing Contest for Kids. The Squatters Club will hold its fourth annual Fishing Contest for the children of Princeton Borough and Township this Sunday from 2 to 4:30 at the club headquarters on Quaker Road. Boys and girls under 14 are eligible.

Prizes will be awarded for the first fish caught, the longest, heaviest, smallest, and the greatest number. Parents are urged to bring their youngsters to the contest, which have grown in popularity each year.

Childbirth Group to Meet. The Natural Childbirth Study Group of Princeton will meet Tuesday at 8:15 in the First Presbyterian Church to hear a panel discussion by four women who have experienced natural childbirth in hospitals. Husbands and visitors are also invited.

A question period will follow, designed to bring out the role of education for childbirth as well as the purposes and aims of natural childbirth. Information about the study group may be obtained from Mrs. J. W. Brault (2604-M) or Mrs. John Hemphill (5513).

Griggstown Fair Planned. The Griggstown Volunteer Fire Department and Ladies' Auxiliary are preparing a Country Fair on June 16 in Griggstown. The fete, which will include exhibits and square dancing, will run from 1 p.m. until midnight.

The fair will celebrate the founding of the company ten years ago and the paying off of the loan floated to purchase the company's new engine. The company will demonstrate new equipment, while other industrial and commercial establishments in the area have planned displays.

Cub and Boy Scout Troops from the area and 4-H groups will also participate in the fete. Ed Porter will call the turns for the evening barn dance.

Haaken Hendrickson is chairman of the committee planning the fair. Other members include Kenneth Herrmann and James Byron, publicity; Bernard Hendrickson, purchasing; Steven Kady, Karl Hoepfner, Roy Birkland, Frank Nulty and Archibald Anderson, concessions.

Baker Republican Leader. Richard W. Baker Jr. has been elected president of the Republican Club of Princeton, succeeding Professor A. T. McAllister.

Other officers include Mrs. George R. Cook 3rd, Roland T. Ely and Mrs. James Catting, vice-presidents; Paul Starkey Jr., treasurer; and Mrs. Dorothy Couchman, secretary. Members elected to the executive committee include B. E. Bergesen, Jr., B. Franklin Bunn, George A. Grifing, Arthur P. Morgan and Edward G. Warren.

Mrs. Todd to Speak. Mrs. Eleanor S. Todd, Republican National Committeewoman from New Jersey, will speak to the Women's Republican Club of Princeton on Thursday, May 31, at 8:30 in Township Hall. She will discuss "Women's Important Part in the 1956 Campaign."

Mrs. Robert Mangold, club president, also announced that Mrs. Charles Roeknak will head a committee to increase membership. Mrs. William B. Dodge, Mrs. Sherman Bates, Mrs. Foster Jemison and Mrs. Leonard F. Kraus will act as a reception committee for the coming meeting of the club.

"IT WON'T BE LONG NOW, BOYS": That's what Martin F. Lombardo (in window) is shouting to two PMI cohorts, John Dempsey (left) and George Karatgas, as they prepare PMI windows for the advent of summer and (prompted by Town Topics' inquiring reporter) discuss their own plans for vacation time. Their interesting answers to Question of the Week appear below with five others.

Question of the Week

Question: Where are you taking your summer vacation, and where would you rather go?

Location: Nassau Street, near Palmer Square.

Martin F. Lombardo, 329 Nassau Street, head janitor with PMI: I'm planning to go down to North Carolina, where my son's stationed at Fort Bragg. That's the same place I'd most like to go, too, because I haven't seen him since Christmas and he probably won't come up here until next Christmas. I'm going to put a foam mattress in the back of my new station wagon; then I'll be all set.

Elias Scudder, 180 John Street, veteran bootblack at Jack Honore's barber shop: I've been saving a little bit of money each week for my vacation and, after college closes, I'll be off to Atlantic City. You can't beat the swimming or the bathing beauties there. After a week at the shore, I'll spend my second week with friends in Newark and New York, where we always have plenty of fun. If I really had the time, I think I'd like it in Hawaii. Charlie Caldwell sent me a card from there this week. He says it's wonderful country, but there's no footbll material.

Mrs. Gladys Hardy, 53 North Tulane Street, cashier for Western Union: I haven't made up my mind yet. Last year, I went to West Virginia to visit my son and his family, but this year I may travel through New England for a change. Of all places, I would most like to go to Denver or San Francisco. I used to live in both places and I liked them both very much. I have lots of friends out there, particularly in Denver.

John Dempsey, 16 Park Place, janitor with PMI: That's a hard question to answer because I don't know if I'm going to get a summer vacation. I haven't been on this job very long. I'd enjoy going to Florida, down by West Palm Beach — the climate there in the summer will fool you — it's terrific!

Mrs. Bernice Chase, 10 Bank Street, business office worker for The Princeton Packet: My husband's going back into the Marine Corps for three months this summer, so I'll be with him near Norfolk at the amphibious base at Little Creek. We had a wonderful time there last year. Our boys and I spend most of the time on the beach. It's not much of a vacation for my husband, but it's fun for us. Most of all, I'd rather go to California. My family lives in San Diego and, though I'm fond of Princeton, I prefer the California climate.

Wilbur S. Buchanan, 9 Park Place, building attendant for Public Service: I'm heading for St. Petersburg, Florida, in the early fall, where I usually go. It's a very friendly city and there are some mighty good eating places there, especially cafeterias. I'd most like to go out through Colorado or the Canadian Rockies. That's the prettiest part of the Continent, I think.

Miss Marie Carballal, Pennington, secretary for Community Planning Associates: If I had a summer vacation, I'd try to join my parents in Europe, where they're touring. I'd love to travel through Spain, Italy, France and as many counries as I could get to. But I probably won't rate much time off, being new on this job, and anyhow I'm in charge of the house while my family's away.

George Karatgas, 473 Nassau Street, janitor with PMI: I'm going to stay right here because I don't know where else to go. I've only been in this country one year. Right now, I'm crazy about Princeton, but maybe after three years here, I'll want to return to Greece for a visit with my mother and sister, who still live there.

Wouldn't It Be Fun . . .

This is the time of year when people start getting ready for their annual two-week summer vacation—customarily pleasant experience that follows 50 weeks of waiting (and leads to 50 more.) It is also the time when many persons — Princetonians included — find they don't have enough money or time to vacation at the place of their dreams.

Curious to sample a few hard-working Princeton residents to discover what they plan to do with their vacations and whether their plans call for a sojourn where they really would like to sojourn, Town Topics' inquiring reporter paced Nassau Street in search of likely candidates. Their varied responses appear on this page in Question of the Week.

New YWCA President. Mrs. T. Cuyler Young has been elected president of the Princeton Young Women's Christian Association. She was chosen last week at a meeting of the Board of Directors.

Other officers selected for the coming year are Mrs. Sherman Bates, Mrs. Walter E. Beers, Mrs. George Geary and Mrs. J. Lowrie McLarty, vice-presidents; Miss Margaret Kahny, secretary, and Mrs. Leon S. Nergaard, treasurer.

Mrs. Young, who was born in Oregon and went to college at Wooster, Ohio, and at the University of Oregon, possesses much international and educational experience. She has lived in Iran and Canada and has traveled in Europe, Asia and Africa.

While in Iran, Mrs. Young was principal of the American School for Moslem girls in Resht for 10 years and was a member of the Provincial Board of Education for the Iranian government for three years. In this country she has served as a member of the staff at Reed College in Portland, Ore., and taught high school in Washington, D. C., during World War II.

Since coming to Princeton nine years ago, Mrs. Young has been active in the YWCA, showing n special interest in English classes for foreign-born persons, in the World Fellowship Committee nnd in the International Spring Festivals. She is the wife of Dr. T. Cuyler Young, chairman of the Department of Oriental Languages and Literature at Princeton University and director of the Special Program in Near Eastern Studies.

Can't Fence Me In. George Bromm of Blawenburg will face multiple charges of careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident in Municipal Court next week as a result of an irregular eleventh-hour drive through Princeton Borough last Saturday night.

It all started somewhere before Mr. Bromm reached the northern end of Alexander Street, but came to the immediate attention of Raymond E. Rudy, 43 Mecer Street, and a passing motorist, Garrit Cortelyou, 79 Wheatsheaf Lane, as Mr. Bromm's auto failed to negotiate a turn on Mercer and jumped the north curb. Some six feet of the iron picket fence surrounding Trinity Church, right outside Mr. Rudy's window, were torn down before the errant driver could stop, back up and continue his journey.

Mr. Cortelyou followed Mr. Bromm, later confirming the license number seen by Mr. Rudy, and watched him attempt a wide turn from Nassau Street into Witherspoon Street—n fairly unsuccessful turn that culminated with the driver hitting an old firebox pole on Nassau's north sidewalk.

Cited at his home in Blawenburg, Mr. Bromm admitted he was using a car belonging to Mrs. Anna L. Lovering, also of Blawenburg, during his ill-fated Princeton drive.

Coincidentally, a second mishap took place near the Rudy home on Mercer Street about 30 minutes after the curb-jumping episode. (For details, read below).

Two Cyclists Injured. Noted for its bicycle-using populace and the scene of a fatal bicycle-auto accident during the winter, Princeton Borough recorded two new cycle mishaps this past week. Both resulted in relatively minor injuries for the victims, but either could well have been a serious incident.

NEW YWCA HEAD: Mrs. T. Cuyler Young will serve as president of the YWCA for the next 12 months. (See story, this page.)

The first accident occurred early Saturday afternoon when James B. Tenny, 177 Prospect Avenue, moving east on Prospect, made a lefthand turn into the driveway at Dial Lodge. Fifteen-year-old David Scott, son of Mrs. Jackson Martindell, 125 Library Place, was riding his bicycle eastward, behind the auto, and tried to stop as the vehicle effected its turn.

Unfortunately, the brakes on young Scott's cycle snapped, the all-important chain breaking, and he crashed into the car, badly damaging the bike. The youth fell to the pavement head-first, but escaped with only a painful brush on his face.

At 11:40 the same night, 14-year-old Dan Quick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford D. Quick, 24 Haslet Avenue, came a cropper along the first block of Mercer Street. Riding westbound in Saturday's blinding thunderstorm, he struck a parked car and was thrown to the road in semi-conscious condition.

The police, Mercer Street residents and passers-by kept the boy warm and dry with raincoats and blankets until the ambulance arrived to take him to Princeton Hospital, where the day's earlier casualty nlso was treated. X-rays were taken Sunday and, by Monday, hospital attendants were able to report "no known broken bones" and a badly bruised but "greatly improved" patient.

Fun for Kids, Too. The fast-approaching Princeton Hospital Fete, scheduled for June 2 on the grounds of Westminster Choir College, will feature a full program of special events for adults —but there will be a wealth of fun to occupy the younger set, too. In fact, a comparable slate of events for the children has been prepared to fill all the Fete hours, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m.

Sandy Becker, WABD-TV favorite of youngsters who is noted for a variety of talents, will climax the kids' entertainment with a complete show at 4:15 p.m. Tickets for his part in the proceedings will be sold at ticket tables throughout the day.

Before the New York comic takes over, there will be an exhibition of dancing by students of Peggy Longstreth Bayer from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., another dance review by students of the Betty Kehoe Studios from 1 to 2:30 p.m. and a demonstration in obedience training by the Princeton Dog Obedience Club from 3 to 4 p.m.

Douglas Ewing, Robert Bales and Felix Vander Stucken, Princeton Country Day seventh graders, will stage two completely different magic shows under the big Fete tent during the course of the other entertainment offerings. Also, there will be pony and tractor rides, assorted games and tempting sales of cotton candy, popcorn and snowballs.

To highlight Mr. Becker's appearance, Princeton school children in age groups of 5-8, 8-10 and 10-12 will compete in a "Porky Pig Contest," submitting their cartoon impressions of the popu-

Touch and Go May 24-26) is a pleasant sentimental British comedy about a family that decides to migrate to Australia and then runs into a series of complications, some amusing and some touching. Jack Hawkins and Margaret Johnson head the cast. The film is expertly made. Technicolor.

Samurai (May 28-31) finds the Japanese again doing a lovely job in color with a classic story of the 17th Century. Toshiro Mifune, the lustful bandit in "Roshomon", scores again as an ambitious warrior and master swordsman, seeking a career with the Smurai, the select militia of feudal war days. Kaoru Yachigusa and Marika Okada are two actresses who dd a good deal, and there are fascinating costumes and backgrounds. William Holden delivers a partial narration.

Music Note. An unusual demonstration-class and recital will find 22 Princeton children performing at the piano this Sunday at 4 in the Westminster Choir College Playhouse. The occasion will be the first public recital of group learning in piano study conducted this year for the first time under Miss Frances Clark, head of Westminster's piano and piano pedogogy department.

Miss Clark, who came here last September, conducted the course in part by showing students how she and her staff gave first piano lessons to 22 second, third and fourth grade children from Princeton public schools.

The children were taught once a week in groups of four, with five associate teachers each taking a quartet after watching Miss Clark instruct one group. Sunday's demonstration will give parents and friends a chance to see the results of the instruction as each young pianist plays a selection.

Children participating in the demonstration include: Thomas Assenheimer, Sheldon-Ann Barker, Sandra Cook, Raechel Davies, Christopher Fischer, Georgiane Godfrey, Margaret Harbison, Virginia Hite, Alexis Hoagland, Dennis Jeffries, David Johnson, Colin Leitch, Margaret Mather, Robin Platten, Alan Robertson, Douglas Robertson, Charles Steenrod, Sally Strayer, Carol Swinnerton, Cheryl Warfield, Martha Wilson.

As a climax to the program, two of Miss Clark's advanced piano students at Westminster, Martha Braden and Doris Martin, will play for the children. With a narrator, they will do Saint Saens' "Carnival of Animals."

THE JOINT IS JUMPING: Professor Joseph Brown, designer of The Jiggle-Ring and other revolutionary devices for children, demonstrates that height, weight and age are not advantages for this balancing act, developed by him to teach youngsters responsibility through fun. His inventions now represent a real problem for Princeton Borough officials (see Topics of the Town). But The Jiggle-Ring doesn't seem to be bothering (left to right) Joel Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Thompson, 611 Lake Drive; Philip Winder, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Winder, 30 Edwards Place; Shirley Hartle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hartle, 32 Edwards; and Ellie Thompson, Joel's older sister.

lar barnyard figure who clowns with Sandy each Saturday evening on WABD's Looney Tunes program. Mrs. Norman C. Moore, Larom B. Munson and Rex Gorleigh, art enthusiasts as well as authorities, will judge the best drawing efforts and the visiting TV comedian will present autographed paintings — concocted at at the Fete—as the contest prizes.

Members of the Hospital Auxiliary committee arranging the children's activities are Mrs. Lewis W. Hicks, Mrs. Leonard C. Johnson, Mrs. David D. Holmes, Mrs. Bruce B. Bedford Jr., Mrs. Frederick H. Wandelt and Mrs. J. T. Volbrecht. This year's Fete will raise funds for beds, equipment and facilities at the hospital's new Merwick Convalescent Home.

Are They Too Dangerous? Unique playground equipment designed by Joseph Brown, associate professor of sculpture at Princeton University, was the subject of considerable attention by Borough officials this week as they sought to determine if they should purchase some of it for Marquand Park. Their problem: Is the equipment too dangerous for youngsters to use without supervision in the park? Their decision: no.

Mr. Brown, who admits children may bruise a knee or two on his playthings ("but there's no chance of hanging or serious injury"), said, in defense of his original creations, that he dreamed up the equipment with such bruises specifically in mind. Arguing that "play is nature's way of preparing the child for the responsibilities of maturity," he noted that the child understands responsibility faster if he is liable to skin an elbow when not alert during his play.

The municipality's leaders realized that the Borough cannot afford to pay a park supervisor to watch Princeton youngsters romping and having fun on a set of Mr. Brown's intriguing devices (see photo). Yet, they were faced with the fact that money donated for purchase of play equipment for Marquand must be spent on Mr. Brown's devices only (the donor's stipulation).

Richard Colman, Council member in charge of playgrounds and recreation, recently advised his colleagues of the peculiar monetary problem and also reported that a complete set a Brown-inspired equipment is used, with wonderful results, at the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute in Skillman. Other sets of the same playthings have been used for almost a year —without injuries—by all public playgrounds in Philadelphia.

Pointing out that a supervisor keeping vigil over his inventions would defeat their purpose, the well-known sculptor explained, "If a supervisor is used as a substitute for good design, he becomes to the child what the lawyer and the policeman become, too often, to the father—a substitute for judgment and conscience." He stressed: "Unpredictability—within reasonable limits — is the basis of man's creativity."

Observing that his playthings require that the child realize that his companion on the other side of the device is influencing his part in the fun, Mr. Brown said, "The child is given practice in choosing and executing a course of action, but he is constantly reminded that change is the essence of living, that to adhere to a principle it is necessary to be able to change your mind — with balance."

Ever interested in the proper development of youngsters, the sculptor concluded, "There is a time to move and a time to stand still or sit down, and judgment is the big factor; but judgment must be nurtured by experience above and below — as well as on — the verbal level. These designs are, in effect, non-verbal — even self-inflicted sermons.

Chip Off the Old Block. Maybe everyone isn't happy with the work of its hard-working labor crews, but the State Highway Department aims to please. Take, for lack of a more appropriate example, the case of the Nassau Street - Bayard Lane - Stockton Street intersection, site of barely tested traffic lights.

When the lights were first installed a month or so ago, highway executives said they would chisel a goodly hunk off the southeast curve of Battle Monument terrain to make the Stockton-Bayard transition easier. There was some question about whether they would have to "borrow" the land from the Borough or even the State Department of Conservation and Economic Development, but they were determined.

BACK ON THEIR BEATS AFTER TRAINING DUTY: These three Princeton patrolmen returned to their local law enforcement duties this week after successfully completing a 30-day course in basic police training at the military encampment in Sea Girt. They were among 51 men from 34 municipalities and the Alcoholic Beverage Commission who graduated as members of the 22nd Municipal Police Class. Francis Maguire (left), 269 Hawthorne Avenue, and Richard Panicaro (right), 21 Humbert street, represented the Borough, while Jack Petrone, 137 Valley Road, was the Township's trainee.

This week, highway laborers did the job at Battle Monument to please Princetonians, presumably with the blessing of those in the other state agency who are concerned with historical places. And, at the special request of a few observant citizens, they chipped less off the old block than originally planned to spare a picturesque corner cherry tree.

Ironically, they managed to please everyone except the majority of motorists, who still think the opposite curve—the Nassau-Bayard transition—is the real, unexpected traffic problem.

Hospital Auxiliary Elects. Mrs. William G. Mollenkopf has been chosen president and Mrs. David Miller vice-president of the Women's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital. Other officers elected at the annual meeting last week are Mrs. L. F. Stafford, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Harry Olsen, recording secretary, and Mrs. John Krieger, treasurer.

The meeting marked the fifth anniversary of the auxiliary, which has grown to a membership of 500 since being organized in 1951 by a group of six women appointed by the board of trustees of the Hospital. The annual Hospital Fete, which will be held June 2 this year on the grounds of Westminster Choir College, is the largest project of the group.

Through the years, the auxiliary has also assisted in Christmas entertainment for the nurses and hospital staff and helped provide gifts for the patients at Christmas time. The auxiliary also sponsors the popular Baby Picture Service, which enables mothers to obtain pictures of their newly-born children.

Members-at-large chosen at the auxiliary's meeting are Mrs. Wendell Carlson, Mrs. Edgar Smith and Mrs. Donald Griffin. The nominating committee for the year will consist of Mrs. Dilman Smith, Mrs. Walton Butterworth, Mrs. Kenneth Smith, Mrs. C. C. Martinelli and Mrs. William Wilson.

DAR Officers Selected. Mrs. Walter Fullam has been chosen regent of the Princeton Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution. Also elected for three-year terms at the annual meeting last week were Mrs. Ira Warren, treasurer; Mrs. Irving Mershon, recording secretary; Mrs. Frank Reshif, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Everett Wallis, chaplain; Miss Genevieve Cobb, historian, and Mrs. Howard Cox, registrar.

At the meeting Mrs. Fullam gave a report on the annual D.A.R. Congress in Washington, D. C. The chapters were urged to synchronize their election years and terms of office with those of national and state societies. Discussing the suggestion as a way to facilitate cooperation between national, state and chapter officers, the Princeton Chapter voted to amend its constitution to comply with the request.

Miss Ethel Innes, Miss Mildred Innes, Miss Elizabeth Innes and Miss Carolyn McDonough were announced as new members, bringing the chapter membership to 91. Following the meeting, Mrs. Cox was hostess at a box luncheon.

Chosen to Head Lions. Louis Rieger has been named president and Charles Aversano, Robert Holliday and Judson Kurtz, vice-presidents, of the West Windsor Lions Club for the coming year. Other officers elected are Edmon Wilcox, secretary; C. Lawrence Dey, treasurer; Charles Rue and Norman Hulick, directors; Raymond Phillips, lion tamer, and Frank Walton, tail twister.

Dr. Harold Windlin, assistant director, New Products Development, Fine Chemicals Division of the American Cyanamid Company, discussed acronization as guest speaker at the second May meeting of the Club. A process which enables the distributor and consumer to preserve poultry, fish and meats for a longer period of time than is now possible, acronization is gaining support on the poultry and fish market and in the beef market of Puerto Rico.

Grass Needs Haircut. Anxious to prepare Princeton sartorially for the annual June influx of visitors, the Borough Engineering Department this week urged residents to pay particular attention to the trimming of grass between sidewalks and curbed property lines. Such cutting is the responsibility of property-owners, according to city officials.

"We will send out notices next week advising homeowners to do the job in an all-out effort to beautify Princeton further" Borough Engineer I. Russell Riker observed. "If they don't heed the advice and Borough workmen are obliged to do the trimming, then Borough workmen will do it. But their bill will be a pretty stiff one, believe me."

Destination: Workhouse. Heading happily through Princeton toward his home in Binghamton, N. Y., Calvin J. Boal almost rammed his car into Township Hall, then found himself in the Mercer County workhouse for a 30-day term as a result of driving along Valley Road while intoxicated.

The visitor received the jail sentence in lieu of fine from Township Magistrate Louis R. Gerber last Thursday after spending a Ball Game Saturday. Having worked its way back to a first-place tie with Yale in the Eastern Intercollegiate League as a result of its clear-cut triumph over Cornell, Princeton's baseball team will interrupt its bout with examinations long enough to play Fordham Saturday on University Field. Game time is 2:30.

All other activity has ended save for scattered entries in this weekend's IC4-A track meet at Randall's Island, New York, and the crew's participation in the national regatta at Syracuse on June 16. A good showing there will be followed by entry in the Olympic tryouts later next month.

Hopes are that Captain Jim Gibson will be sufficiently recovered from his bout with grippe to take the pitching assignment Saturday against Fordham. It is on his shoulders that the Tigers' strongest bid for the league title will rest, although Leigh Ford is close behind him in ability and could make a tight game of it if he proves to be the choice.

Gibson has a scintillating 0.54 earned run average and victories over Dartmouth, Navy, Harvard and Yale without a defeat in league action. Chances are all that if he had been well when the Tigers played Columbia last week, the four runs they got in the first inning would have been enough for victory. As it was, the Lions came back to win, 8-4, on the strength of two home runs—one of them a grand slam.

Cornell Beaten. Ford, whose earned run average is almost as good as Gibson's, held Cornell in virtually complete control Saturday, winning, 7 to 1. The triumph raised the team's won-lost mark in league play to 7-2, and since Columbia beat Cornell and Army on successive days to remove them from the race, Princeton and Yale finished the regular campaign in a two-way tie.

Ford was touched for eight hits, two of them ringing doubles by Captain John Anderluh, but he yielded two in only one inning and was extremely stingy in the pinches. A full dozen Cornell runners were left on base, and the only run the losers got was unearned.

That came in the seventh when shortstop Larry Durante misplayed a grounder and a single, a walk and a sacrifice fly followed. Two innings earlier, however, the Orange and Black had teed off on Cornell pitcher Clayton Haviland for five runs.

Haviland was, and probably still is, a second baseman. However, on Saturday, he was a pitcher and not a bad one, either.

The visitors were without the services of Billy DeGraaf, their top hurler, because he had aggravated an old football injury when he sustained a dislocated bone in his back. The incident occurred last week in a game at Syracuse when DeGraaf slid into third and reportedly became embroiled in an argument with the Syracuse third baseman. A fan rushed out onto the field and joined the scuffle, DeGraaf's back being injured in the ensuing action.

ANOTHER SHOT AT YALE: Royce Flippin, who has made a specialty of helping Princeton beat Yale, will get another chance to make trouble for the Elis in the Eastern League baseball playoff. (For time and place, see page 21.)

Five in the Fifth. Haviland started and finished the game, despite the fact that he had also worked in relief 24 hours earlier while the Red was losing to Columbia. He actually had a no-hitter going into the last of the fifth, but that frame proved his undoing.

Dale Castro drew one of the seven walks the Cornell pitcher issued and Ford bunted. Haviland's throw to second was high and the rally was in the making.

Johnny Wert lined a hit over short, with Casto safe at the plate on a very close play. Ford went to third on the throw home and Wert to second, both runners scoring when Bill Agnew laced a solid single to right center.

After Ed McMillan forced Agnew at second, the Cornell shortstop threw wild on Tom Quay's grounder, McMillan reaching third and Quay second. Royce Flippin's perfect squeeze bunt brought McMillan across and Tom Morris singled to right to bring Quay home with the fifth run of the inning.

The last two Princeton runs were chalked up in the eighth with Quay and Flippin at third and second as the result of a walk and a double. Ford popped a wind-blown fly over second with two away, the ball falling in safely for a base hit.

The victory raised the Tigers' record to 11-5-1 for the year and left them with a shot at the league title for the first time since 1953. They have pretty well dominated the circuit in the post-war decade, winning the championship outright in 1945, '49, '51 and '53 and tying with Army in 1950. Yale has finished first three times, no other team more than once.

Fine Year for the Tiger Crew. Princeton's crew achieved its greatest success in a decade when it added the Compton Cup Saturday to the Navy Cup and the Child's Cup, both of which it won in April. The Orange and Black led Harvard, Dartmouth and M.I.T. across the finish line on Carnegie's choppy surface, earning a full length over the Crimson with a great surge at the end that took the beat all the way up to 37.

It was a memorable day for Princeton rowing as Tiger entries won six of the seven races staged. The only one that got away was the freshman heavyweight event, which Harvard took by a half length over the Class of '59.

The 150-lb. freshman, jayvee and varsity crews all trimmed Pennsylvania, the varsity regaining the Wood Hammond Cup from the Quakers. The Orange and Black was timed in 6:30.5 for the Henley distance, under the course record but unacceptable because the rough water necessitated a floating start.

In the Compton Cup regatta, Princeton led all the way save for a short time in the first quarter mile when Harvard moved out to a deck length. The Tigers then took over, gradually increasing their advantage to a half, three-quarters and then a full length at the finish.

Princeton's winning time was 8:42.8, less than 2 seconds off the course record and fastest time for the event since it was originated in 1933. The tail wind was unusually stiff, creating a very choppy course for the normally placid lake but helping more than it hindered.

Pulling the number three oar for Harvard was John Lapsley, a junior. He is the son of Mrs. William D. Lippincott of Arreton Road.

Other Sports. Princeton fell victim to the best Harvard tennis team in 20 years, the Crimson winning 7-2 at Cambridge to wrap up the Eastern Association title. It was the Tigers' first loss to the Cantabs in the sport since 1935. John Conroy's team nonetheless finished the year with a fine 9-1 record.

The golfers edged Army, 4-3, concluding their season with 21 victories and only three defeats. The track team lost a pair last week to Penn and Cornell by respective scores of 74-66 and 80-59. The lacrosse team blanked Penn, 14-0, but was swamped by Navy, 14-4, in its final contest.

Blue (& White) Chips Down. This week featured D-Day for Coach John Arscott's Princeton High tennis players, for they were scheduled to meet Red Bank Catholic in a make-or-break match as far as the Little Tigers' Central Jersey aspirations are concerned. The telltale set-to was slated for Wednesday afternoon on Catholic's court—too late for results in time for TOWN TOPICS' press deadline.

In a first battle between the two well-rated group III teams in Princeton last week, the Blue & White club lost a heartbreaker to the visitors, 3-2. Even after the first four matches, PHS won the initial set of its second doubles engagement, then blew sets 2 and 3 by close scores to give Red Bank the major verdict.

Both Princeton and Catholic went into last week's meeting with impressive, unblemished Central Jersey records. John Chandler, capable PHS No. 1 performer, was beaten by Dick Emery, one of the state's top scholastic players, 6-2, 6-3, but Princeton's Nick Charney, at the No. 2 position, upset Tom Travis, the other half of Red Bank's great one-two punch, by a 6-0, 6-2 count.

Bill Pfitzinger then lost a close No. 3 match to Catholic's Dennis Lynch, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2, before Chandler and Charney pulled the surprise of the afternoon by spilling Emery and Travis, 7-5, 6-0, for the latters pair's first setback of the season. Pfitzinger and Ken Boyd were losers in the final and deciding doubles session.

After dropping and unofficial, warm-up opener to Trenton High, 6½-6½, the Little Tigers went on to topple Leonardo and Red Bank once each and Freehold and Rumson twice each before the crucial Catholic test. Still scheduled, along with the second Catholic meeting, were matches with Asbury Park, Leonardo, Red Bank and Interscholastic Tournament opponents (at Princeton University this Friday.)

Track Title at Stake. Having won every Central Jersey group III championship track meet since the end of World War II, the Little Tigers of Princeton High will rule prohibitive favorites to grab the 1956 title this Saturday at Asbury Park. But Coach Win Niles' forces will have their hands full due to a variety of circumstances.

To begin with, Co-Captain Tom Shope, hampered for more than a month by a pulled leg muscle, probably will not be up to par in his muscle-demanding events, the high jump and hurdles, if he participates at all. Sprinters Maurice Still and Bob Fowler and point-making jumper Roddy Pannell, suspended from school indefinitely for different reasons, probably will not be eligible. And PHS will not field its usual overall strength, as evidenced by the recent dual loss to Lawrenceville.

If Princeton does secure this year's title, and Coach Niles is reasonably hopeful, it will likely wind up with multi-event points from triple-threat Nick Kovalakides and Co-Captain Win Niles Jr. Of necessity, there will also be point contributions from some or all of the following: Gary Cortelyou (2:02.7 winner of the 880 against Lawrenceville), Richie Hall in the quarter or dashes, Tom Dennison in the mile and Frank DiMeglio in the weights.

Coach Niles will do as much juggling as possible in Asbury Park to determine where he can get best results (and most points) in the state championships on June 2. Also, this Saturday's meet will be the final tune-up for the Little Tigers' difficult dual assignment against Trenton High, slated for next Monday in Trenton.

Last week, despite the abovementioned personnel problems and a powerful prevailing wind, PHS defeated Somerville High, 76-41, for its third victory in four dual meets this season. Kovalakides made his worst javelin throw (169 feet 10¼ inches due to the wind) and his best shot put (48 feet 7 inches) of the spring, and won both, along with the discus event, for his fourth straight "triple" conquest.

Hall was a thorn in Somerville's side, moving down from his customary 440 to the sprints and captring the 100 in 10.3 and the 220 in 23.0, while young Niles tied for first place in the pole vault at 10 feet 6 inches (his low for the campaign) and took seconds in the 100 and broad jump.

Hun Eyes Perfect Record. Coach Zig Emery's Johnny-come-quickly Huns went out after the first undefeated baseball season in school history this week and were expected to bring home the bacon. They won their 12th and 13th straight games in action last week, demonstrating confidence as well as ability by blanking Peddie, 6-0, and blasting Bayley-Ellard, 15-4.

contest 1956 slate, Hun was faced with the problem of handling a highly regarded BMt nine this Wednesday and stubborn Bryn Athyn this Friday in a pair of appealing afternoon home encounters. Verdict of the spring's first Hun-BMI meeting was not reached before Town Topics' deadline. Bryn Athyn will meet the Red and Black for a second time, having dropped the earlier decision, 2-0, despite Hun's unusual output of only four safeties.

Bruce (Bo) Davis, sparkling pitcher-hitter for the Princeton club, proved a big factor in his team's two latest victories. He struck out seven and walked none in hurling a four-hit whitewash job in Hightstown against Feddie for his fourth shutout and seventh mound success. Against Bayley-Ellard, in Morristown, he cracked a double and triple in three at-bats while playing right field.

In support of Davis' fine pitching win, Shortstop Earl Cottrell led Hun's eight-hit attack with two singles. Jim Lavan banged the game's sole extra-base blow, a double that drove in a run, and other Red and Black markers were brought home by timely singles by Frank Lewallen (2) Bob Gottschalk (2), and George Cramer.

Tired of letting the customary Hun headliners take all the glory, Catcher John Kenrick clubbed two doubles and two singles in the 15-hit, 15-run triumph over Boyley-Ellard. Alan Shepard and Cottrell shared pitching duties for Coach Emery's outstanding varsity, with Shepard earning the win after going five innings.

Shepard and Cottrell also collected two hits apiece, pointing Davis and Bobby Cox in that department. These safeties went a long way toward giving Hun a four-run third and a seven-run fifth—more than enough to wrap up the situation.

Lions' Tigers Moving Fast. With a 5-4 victory over the Giants and a 6-0 win over the Yankees, the Tigers—sponsored by the Princeton Lions Club—jumped from a third-place tie into the No. 2 position of the Midget Baseball League's American Division this past week. The Orioles, on top a week ago, remained in definite contention, just one point off the pace.

In the loop's National Division, the Cardinals held their grip on first place, but the Braves—sponsored by the University Music Shop—won a pair of games to vault from a third-place deadlock into second, a slim point behind the division-leaders. The Giants, in second a week ago, slipped to third, though they were only two points out of first.

As of Monday, with a full slate of Midget games again on tap this week, the standings were as follows:

(American Division)

	W.	L.	Tie	Pts.*
Tigers	4	1	1	15
Orioles	4	2	0	14
Yankees	3	1	1	12
Red Sox	2	4	1	12
Athletics	2	4	0	10

(National Division)

Cardinals	4	2	1	16
Braves	4	3	0	15
Giants	3	3	1	14
Pirates	2	4	0	10
Dodgers	1	5	1	10

*System: 3 for win, 2 for tie, 1 for loss, 0 for forfeit.

All-Stars Play Wednesday. Following Princeton's annual Memorial Day parade, in which the YMCA-organized Midgets will form a marching unit, All-Stars representing both divisions will play their now-traditional Memorial Day contest on Brokaw Field. Boys will meet for the parade at 10:30 a.m. at the corner of Princeton and Prospect Avenues with the special game scheduled to start at 2 p.m.

Three youngsters from each team in each division, selected by their managers, will compete in the All-Star attraction. The following outstanding players have been chosen for the 1956 encounter:

(American Division)

Yankees—Lewis Wilson, Tom Turner, Gilbert Fisher; Red Sox—Charlie Pemberton, Charlie Stuart, Eric Bach; Athletics—Henry Pierre, Roy Sylvester, Howard McMorris; Tigers—James Jones, Robbie Swinnerton, Charles Cirullo; and Orioles—Tom Olsen, Stanley Cooper, Chalmers Brumbaugh.

(National Division)

Dodgers—Griffin Dix, Bob Carrick, Ben Johnson; Braves—Willy Hill, Gary Govor, Scott Ritenour; Cardinals—Harry Morton, Paul Tukey, George Tucker; Pirates—Alvin Anderson, James Britton, Henry Schmidt; and Giants—Jack Mccauley, Ronny Decker, Preston Layton.

Dog Obedience Match Held. Some 77 dogs were entered in the Obedience Match held Sunday afternoon at Miss Fine's School by the Princeton Dog Training Club. First, second and third prizes were awarded in five classes.

A special prize for the highest-scoring entry in the trial owned by a member of the Princeton Club went to Edward Kahler, Jr. of Franklin Park with his Boxer, "Trapeze." Another award for the highest scoring dog handled by a junior was won by Miss Penny Bush, 391 Nassau Street. Robert M. Merritt, 92 Cullck Road, won a prize with his dachshund, "Sweeney," for the highest-scoring hound dog in the trial.

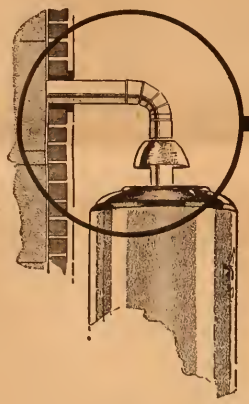
Gas Water Heaters must be VENTED



Check yours now and be certain of safe, more efficient operation

1. Be certain your Gas Water Heater is properly vented to the outside.
2. Never install a Gas Water Heater in bathrooms, bedrooms or any occupied rooms normally kept closed.
3. Dampers should not be used in vent pipes as they interfere with the proper venting action.
4. Vent pipes should be replaced whenever they show signs of rusting through.

MAKE THIS TEST

Check periodically to make sure the flue is working properly. A simple test will tell. After the appliance has been working for 15 minutes, hold a lighted match near the skirt of the draft hood. The flame will be drawn toward the draft hood if your flue is clear. A blocked flue should be cleaned before it can cause trouble.

Title Game at Yale

Yale picked up all the marbles in the drawing to determine the site of the June 2d playoff game for the Eastern Intercollegiate Baseball League championship. The Ells won the right to play the game on their own diamond nt New Haven, and to be the home team, coming to bat last.

In the event of rain that day, the contest will be played Thursday, June 7, at New Haven. If it should rain on both the 2nd and the 7th, the title will then be decided in the annual reunion game set for June 9 on University Field. Yale, however, would retain its "home team" advantage and bat last.

The two teams met once before this season, the May 5th game going to Princeton, 4 to 1. In the only other playoff in history between the two traditional rivals, held here in 1953, Princeton was a 4-2 victor.

Little Tigers Get Hot. Tired of losing ball games for lack of adequate plate support, Russ Watson of Princeton High hurled a fine two-hitter Monday afternoon to blank Trenton Catholic, 5-0, and register his first pitching win of the season. The Little Tigers managed only five singles behind their hard-luck right-hander, but they got them at the right moments and came off with their most impressive 1956 contest to date.

While Watson was striking out three and walking none, his teammates were doing well behind him. Shortstop Roger Morgan committed PHS' sole error, as opposed to six costly Catholic miscues, but atoned for his mistake by delivering the important, two-run hit during Princeton's three-run first inning. The game was put on ice when the Little Tigers tallied a pair of unearned markers in the second.

Before winning its third victory in 10 starts and avenging an earlier 4-3 loss to Trenton Catholic (now 5-6), Princeton fell prey to Ewing High and Tom Glennon, who tossed his second one-hitter in a row to down Coach Morrill Shepard's stick-shy crew. First Baseman Lee Ammerman spoiled Glennon's no-hit bid with a Texas League single in the seventh frame and Pitcher Howie Phox absorbed his second loss in four starts, a 5-1 Blue Devil triumph.

The Little Tigers, who displayed more of the promise expected of them against Catholic than heretofore this season, will wind up the disappointing campaign in Somerville this Friday afternoon. It will be the first meeting of the spring between the two schools.

Country Day Wins Two More. Defeating Valley Road School, 2-1, and then topping a team of fathers by the one-sided margin of 21 to 4, Princeton Country Day School raised its season's record to 8 and 3. Its final game was scheduled for Wednesday against Tower Hill in Wilmington, Del.

Johnny Cook was the winning pitcher in both games. The tie-breaking score against Valley Road came in the last half of the final inning when Chris Shannon raced home on a sharp grounder through the third baseman from the bat of Hugh Wise.

Cook and Tim Carey shared the pitching duties in the Fathers-Sons game, with Peter Cook and Emory Hare on the mound for the losing cause. The contest was marred by a fractured ankle sustained by Harrison Fraker going into second base.

"Our Humble Gratitude."

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

The Princeton Community is an expression we have often heard used with a tone of great respect, but it was not until our recent tragedy that we realized the full meaning of this term. Everyone whom we have ever known seemed to have a personal concern for our welfare. Individuals from every walk of life and every part of Princeton offered us words of understanding and help of all kinds.

It was with great humility that we came to realize that Alan's death was more than just our loss, but a tragedy shared by many. It has been comforting to know that he had made so many friends that thought so well of him, and that everyone in this community stands ready to help their neighbor in time of need. The burden of a heavy heart will always be lightened by the knowledge that we live in a community which cherishes the little personal deeds of the individual above the busiNess and hub-bub of daily life.

We extend our very humble gratitude to each and every person who has shown their willingness to serve their neighbor in time of stress. To list the many deeds would be endless for everyone from the first aid squad and doctors to the churches, our immediate neighbors and other friends, and Alan's classmates, school staff and other friends have had a part in this expression of sympathy and desire to help. We could not ask for a better tribute to Alan than this.

Thanking you one and all for a very lasting memory of human kindness and understanding at its best,

DEANE, BETTY and
ARTHUR JENSEN

Shoe's on Other Foot Now.

To the Editor of TOWN TOPICS:

It has always been my understanding that the function of a newspaper was to report interesting news in an accurate manner. After reading your issue of May 17th, I must have been wrong about the accuracy of news reporting. I refer to the article, "Shoe on the Same Foot."

Referring, as you do in the article, to Mr. Hulit's injuries last year — he was not hit by a fire engine but by a passenger vehicle which had not been halted by whoever was directing traffic at Nassau and Witherspoon Streets. Mr. Hulit has not forgotten his injuries of last year nor has his family.

Last week's incident could have been funny, if you had reported the facts accurately. Mr. Hulit's car was not parked across the street from the firehouse— but adjacent to it. Mr. Hulit had started the engine on to the street and, because of traffic still proceeding on Witherspoon Street, had to back into the firehouse until traffic had cleared. It was on the second attempt to pull into the street that Mr| Hulit, as you put it, "crashed" into his own car. The crash damage was one tail light—hardly a major accident.

It seems to me that your reporters need to confirm their facts before you, as editor, publish them.

You refer to Mr. Hulit as "eager." If the reporter who wrote this article should be unfortunate enough to have a fire at his home, I imagine he would appreciate a few more "eager" firemen on the scene. I certainly would.

I think a public apology is due to Mr. Hulit and his family for your thoughtless and inaccurate statements.

(MRS.) CATHERINE B. WOOD

116 Moore Street.

(Editor's Note: TOWN TOPICS, seeking to record some of the problems encountered by a public-spirited volunteer fireman in discharging his vital duty, achieved that end in the minds of numerous readers. It greatly regrets, however, that it failed to create this impression in the minds of Mr. Hulit and some of his many friends, and gladly offers any apology due.)

A Burning Issue.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

I understand the Borough has decided not to enforce the state regulation against burning of trash. You would do your readers a service if you would let them know how the Borough selects the laws of the state that it will and will not enforce.

If it should ever happen that one of your readers finds it inconvenient to obey some Borough regulations, he could then cite the Borough's precedent when he comes before Magistrate Cheseboro.

WILLIAM VOLK

63 Wiggins Street

(Ed. note — Inspectors in the State Department of Health are responsible for enforcement of the new air pollution code, covering the burning of trash in incinerators, though law enforcers on local levels are expected to register complaints with them to help out. Borough officials realize the new law is aimed at heavy industrial areas, so do not intend to complain until Princeton warrants such action, if ever).

News of the Churches

On the Go. The traveling pastor has always been a figure of the American scene. In Central Jersey today there aren't very many who slog over muddy roads on horseback, preaching to isolated cabins, but there are ministers who travel to the various conferences and assemblies of their churches, comparing ideas with colleagues, electing the governing officers of the church and finding refreshment of spirit.

The Rev. Henry W. Heaps, pastor of the Kingston Presbyterian Church, is attending the meetings of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in Philadelphia. He was elected as a commissioner by the New Brunswick Presbytery, and is serving at the Assembly in that capacity.

Unitarians met last week and early this week in Boston where the annual "May Meetings" of the American Unitarian Association were held. The Rev. Straughan L. Gettier was present for the entire week of the meetings, and a lay delegate attended several of the official sessions. The layman was Richard C. Mason of New Brunswick. Huge Wolter of Princeton, scheduled to be a delegate, was unable to attend.

Earlier in May, the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey, meeting in Trenton, elected the Rev. Robert N. Smyth to its examining board of chaplains. The Rev. Mr. Smyth is the vicar of Trinity Church, Rocky Hill.

The Rev. Yancey Lee Sims of Mt. Pisgah, A.M.E. has returned from the 35th annual session of the African Methodist Episcopal Church which met this year in Miami, Florida.

Bulletin Notes . . . Messiah Lutheran is making plans for its annual Vacation Bible School which will be held this year between June 25 and July 9. Volunteer staff members will be eagerly accepted, and those who are interested may call Harry Succop, 1-5091 . . . Mrs. Kenneth Maxwell has been elected president of the Woman's Society of the Calvary Baptist Church. Other officers are: Mrs. Mildred Sorg, first vice-president; Mrs. Ruth Foster, vice-president of missions; Mrs. Vincent Staats, vice-president of Christian service; Mrs. George Keymer, vice-president of Christian training; Mrs. George Keymer, secretary; Mrs. Ralph Coker, treasurer.

Men of the First Presbyterian church have elected officers for next year. They are W. Landon Dennison, president; Matthew B. Maxwell, secretary - treasurer; John A. Stewart, program; Richard E. Borger, attendance; Matthew B. Maxewll, arrangements.

Lawrenceville Topics

Lawrenceville Alumni Trustee. Dr. Robert F. Goheen '36, director of the Woodrow Wilson Fellowship Program and assistant professor of classics at Princeton, has been elected to a five-year term as alumni trustee of the Lawrenceville School.

Headmaster Allan V. Heely, also announced the election of William C. Matthews '38 as president of the school's alumni association.

Dr. Goheen was a cum laude graduate of Lawrenceville and received highest honors from Princeton in 1940. A veteran of World War II, rising from the rank of private to Lieutenant Colonel, he received his doctorate in philosophy from Princeton in 1948. He is married, resides at 1 Orchard Circle in Princeton, and is the father of six children.

Red Cross Tops Quota. Lawrenceville Branch of Princeton Chapter, American Red Cross, received $2,835 in the annual drive, against a goal of $2,100. The final figures were reported by Col. H. B. Lyon, fund drive chairman.

Col. Lyon extended his thanks to the captains and workers who put the Lawrenceville drive more than 33% over the quota.

Officers elected for the coming year are: Stephen C. Conger, chairman; Thomas J. Johnston, vice-chairman; Mrs. Glen Hudler, treasurer, and Mrs. Gordon Buxton, secretary.

Robert A. Adams has been elected to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Elma Johnston, continuing through 1957, and newly-elected directors are Mrs. Alfred Doley, Richard S. Evans, Mrs. Frank K. Heyniger and Joseph E. Hensler.

Planning Decision Due. The planning board of Lawrence Township was due to render its decision on three potential land subdivisions at its meeting last night, after TOWN TOPICS had gone to press.

Feelings of Nassau Estates were indicated by first announcements of the opening of models this weekend (page 24). The subdivision plans of O. E. Kling, however, were still expected to come under much fire as a major zoning variance.

ADVERTISING VOLUME is based on results. That's why, week in and week out, TOWN TOPICS has double the classified advertising volume of all other Princeton papers combined.

••• FINE CHURCHES — Stuits Memorial (Methodist) and First Presbyterian (one of the oldest congregations in the United States).

This delightful community is one of the oldest towns in New Jersey, in stage coach days, as a halfway point between Philadelphia and the Amboy ferry to New York City, it boasted three inns. One—The Cranbury Inn — is in its second century of continuous service.

Centered around Brainerd Lake—with summer swimming and lighted skating to music in winter—Cranbury is attracting the kind of folks who enjoy the advantages of modern living in an authentic Colonial setting.

Seniors! Congratulations on your coming graduation. If you can type, we'd like to talk to you about several fine job opportunities that are now available.

Here's a new job opening for the mature person who likes detail work. It involves responsibility and offers an opportunity to work independently. Some knowledge of printing procedures would be helpful. Only a little typing involved. Broad benefits including a liberal vacation plan.
